Message from Joe Paige requesting funds to co-sponsor AC Wharton, Jr.

Hello all,

It has become apparent that we will not be able to have Ilyassah Shabazz come to speak during Black History Month as anticipated. I don’t know if her staff made her reconsider after they found out the fee that she initially agreed to or what but we have not been able to confirm or even discuss. I really do appreciate that you all stepped forward to try to make this happen. Anyway, Professor Steve Balkaran and I have contacted and confirmed yesterday to have Memphis Mayor AC Wharton come and speak on the Civil Rights experience in which he is well versed. We met him during our Civil Rights Tour with the CCSU students two years ago and he is quite a speaker and a great human interest story. He has agreed to speak for a $1,000 fee! He will come on Thursday February 7th and speak at 3pm. We plan to have a dinner with him following his speech. Please see his bio and if you would still like to be a co-sponsor please let me know.

Sincerely,

Joe

A C Wharton, Jr. was elected Mayor of Memphis in October 2009. Winning 61 percent of the overall vote, he became Memphis’ 63rd Mayor and its first new Mayor in 18 years. Upon taking office, Mayor Wharton immediately set about focusing his administration to execute a new agenda of transparency, responsiveness, innovation, and delivering efficient, equitable, and excellent service for the people of Memphis. Mayor Wharton believes that Memphis can be a City of Choice for people, families, entrepreneurs, artists, and businesses of all types. His vision is to align civic, commercial, and political leaders to move our economy forward and improve the quality of life for all residents. In every word and deed since taking office, he has called for the City of Memphis to celebrate its successes, honor its singular accomplishments, confront its challenges, and claim its place as a great American city.

The Wharton administration and its partners have received national recognition for Memphis' remarkable revitalization. The Mayor has focused specifically on new initiatives that dramatically increase jobs and capital investment, reduce crime, improve government efficiency and transparency, add more parks and green space to the core city, and improve public education for all children.

Prior to being elected Mayor of the City of Memphis, Mayor Wharton served as the Mayor of Shelby County for seven years and was the first African-American elected to that office.

Mayor Wharton received his law degree in 1971, graduating with honors from the University of Mississippi Law School. He became the University's first African-American professor of law, where he taught for 25 years.

The Mayor and his wife, Ruby, have raised six sons in Memphis.

The themes that bind together A C Wharton’s life – and his public service – are about overcoming hardships, inspired leadership, courage of convictions, and a compelling confidence in a better future. They culminated in his election in 2009 as Mayor of the City of Memphis with a 61 percent mandate for his gospel of "One Memphis" and his bold vision to make Memphis a true city of choice for all people.

A native of Lebanon, TN, Mayor Wharton attended Tennessee State University on an academic scholarship, graduating with honors in political science in 1962. Six years later, he entered the University of Mississippi Law School, where he was one of the first African-American students to serve on the Moot Court Board and the first African-American to serve on the Judicial Council. He graduated with honors in 1971 and later became the University’s first African-American professor of law, a position that he held for 25 years.

Wharton served for two years in the Office of General Counsel of Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in Washington, D.C. before moving to the Lawyers’ Committee for Civil Rights Under Law to head the Public Employment Project funded by the Rockefeller Foundation. In November, 1973, Wharton chose to accept a job as Executive Director of Memphis Area Legal Services, a non-profit organization that provided legal assistance and counseling to our community’s poor. Under his leadership, MALS thrived and was recognized nationally for its innovative programs, including one of the nation’s first legal services office for seniors.

In 1980, then Shelby County Mayor Bill Morris appointed Wharton as Chief Shelby County Public Defender, where his concern for the mentally ill in the criminal justice system gave birth to the Jericho Project, another nationally-renowned program. He was also chosen to chair Shelby County’s Jail Overcrowding Committee, which developed new ways to ease overcrowding without sacrificing public safety.

In 1982, he wrote and passed one of the first state laws in the U.S. to combat domestic violence, and at a national level, he worked for a special appropriation for one of the nation’s first transitional living facilities for juveniles.

Elected as the first African-American Shelby County Mayor in 2002 with 62 percent of the vote and easily reelected in 2006 with 77 percent of the vote, Mayor Wharton developed the county’s first financial plan that is decreasing the county’s debt payments, reduced the county payroll, kept The Med open, expanded Head Start, increased efficiency, developed the first smart growth and sustainability plan for our community, inspired Operation Safe Community, the first comprehensive crime-fighting plan in our history, and limited county government to only one tax increase in seven years.

While serving as Shelby County Mayor, A C Wharton also created notable programs such as Ready, Set, Grow and Books from Birth. As well, he lead several initiatives including the repositioning and funding of Shelby Farms Park, empirical data collection and assessment of Shelby County’s infant mortality rate, and a county-wide increase in minority contractors – from 2% to 11%.

In October 2009, the City of Memphis was faced with a special election to choose their first new Mayor in 18 years. Mayor Wharton entered the race and, backed by a coalition of supporters that was unprecedented in their diversity and depth, was propelled to an overwhelming victory against a field of two dozen challengers.

Within his first six months as City Mayor, Mayor Wharton and his team enacted new standards for government transparency and employee ethics; made urgent changes at the Memphis Animal Shelter and the auto inspection stations; launched the third season of the city’s Diversity Development Incubator; established the new Office of Talent and Human Capital to develop, attract, and retain the best and brightest young workers; and laid out a new blueprint for comprehensively restructuring the operations and business model for city government.

His record of leadership is well-known among national organizations dealing with the issues facing cities. He has testified before the U.S. Congress and has spoken at numerous major conferences, including those of the Brookings
Institution, CEOs for Cities, and National Association of Counties. New York City Mayor Michael Bloomberg invited Mayor Wharton to help review his city’s anti-poverty plans, and Mayor Wharton is a member of the Mayors Against Illegal Guns Coalition headed by Mayor Bloomberg and Boston Mayor Thomas Menino.

Mayor and Mrs. Wharton have raised six sons.

Job Place Bullying and Harassment

Members: Carolyn Fallahi (chair), Kathy Hermes, Eva Vrdoljiak, Sally Lesik, Susan Gilmore, Meg Levvis, Jacqueline Cobbina-Boivin

The committee addressed the extensiveness of workplace bullying. Based on these concerns, we drafted a workplace bullying policy and forwarded it to HR for review. Given that Anne Alling is retiring, the policy will be forwarded to her replacement for review.

There were also extensive discussions surrounding concerns about the Ombudsperson position. We fielded concerns from both within and outside the Committee on the Concerns of Women. These included the following: (1) concerns about not having a female ombudsperson for sensitive issues; (2) concerns about not having a back-up person when there are perceived conflicts of interest; (3) concerns about how several cases were handled in the past, (4) concerns about having the university council fill in were considered a conflict of interest. Based on these concerns, we recommend the consideration for creating a two-person position that includes both a male and a female ombudsperson, which would afford greater access for assistance and allow an alternative person when there are perceived conflicts of interest.

Women of Color Support and Concerns

Members: Carolyn Fallahi, Krystal Rich, Kathy Hermes, Myrna Garcia-Bowen, Bobbie Koplowitz, Jacqueline Cobbina-Boivin, Heidi Huguley

The committee had trouble meeting this year. When they finally were able to meet, members discussed concerns either of their own or from others. They described feelings that women of color deal with having their errors magnified and their successes minimized. Their errors are magnified to a level that they feel ostracized and hold back from where they used to participate. Those are the concerns. There were also concerns expressed about dealing with other employees in their positions. They see that other people may be moved around and accommodated and they feel that the same levels of accommodations are not given to them. We are planning on having more programming next year to try and address some of these concerns.

Women's History Month and Luncheon

Members: Joanne DiPlacido (chair), Carolyn Fallahi, Susan Slaga, Bobbie Koplowitz, Ellen Retelle, Heather Prescott, Karen Ritzenhoff,
The committee chose Dr. Julia Chase Brand as our keynote speaker. In 1961, the Amateur Athletic Union prohibited American women from competing officially in road races. When sympathetic race organizers allowed them entry, their results did not count. Even in the Olympics, women were not allowed to run more than a half-mile lest, it was believed, they would risk their femininity and reproductive health. The luncheon went off without a hitch and the speaker was well received. The luncheon was sold out and half of the attendees were students.

Work Life/Family Balance Sub-Committee

Members: Leah Glaser (chair), Fiona Pearson (chair), Carolyn Fallahi, Sally Lesik, Kathy Hermes, Jason Sikorski, Karen Ritzenhoff, Jacqueline Cobbina-Boivin, Carolyn Yousef

Goals of the Sub-Committee:
1. Follow up on the continued efforts of child-care initiatives on campus.
2. Expand Work Life Family Balance to include recommendations from the equity study (e.g. additional trainings, speakers, and website resources that deal with work life family balance, including elder care and advice).

2011-12 Accomplishments:

The sub-committee began the year by focusing on efforts to promote awareness of existing work life family balance (WLFB) resources on campus. The Ruth Boyea Women’s Center (RBWC) worked with the sub-committee to create an informational brochure regarding some of these resources. This brochure was distributed to various offices on campus, including the Student Center and Human Resources, and in the fall, the sub-committee hosted a table in the Student Center to promote the WLFB website and to encourage students to register for the web-based babysitting service. We also hosted a table at the Spring 2012 Health Fair, where we again promoted services provided by the RBWC, the Early Learning Program (ELP), which offers pre-k education to children ages 3-5, and the WLFB web site.

In addition, committee members evaluated CCSU’s website and determined that locating information about child-care and parental resources was frequently difficult. Specifically we sought to improve access to information about the ELP and lactation rooms for nursing mothers. We worked with Derek Pierce to include these resources in the A-Z index and to rearrange items listed on the WLFB and ELP’s respective web sites to ease users’ ability to navigate their pages. We also created a WLFB Facebook page and advertised this resource via flyers posted around campus.

In the spring, co-chairs of the sub-committee, Leah Glaser and Fiona Pearson along with the Director of the RBWC and WFLB sub-committee member Jacqueline Cobbina-Boivin met with President Miller, Richard Bachoo, and Carolyn Magnan to discuss recommendations issued by the Faculty Senate’s Child Care Task Force (CCTF) in the prior Spring of 2011. During our meeting, President Miller communicated his general support for the construction of lactation rooms in all future academic buildings and for the expansion of our child care resources on campus, including an on-campus drop-in center for short-term, temporary child care and an expanded Family and Child Care Development Resource Center. He recommended that we draft concrete proposals for such resources for administrators to review. Subsequently, we collaborated with the RBWC, ELP, and CCTF, to draft a proposal to create an on-campus child-care drop-in pilot program. Administrators are currently reviewing this proposal. We also supported the ELP, who submitted a proposal in January to renovate their current CCSU-owned facility on East Street in order to expand their pre-k program and offer infant and toddler care. This expanded program at the ELP would likewise serve as a pilot program as administrators develop plans for the Family Child Care Resource Center proposed in the current draft of the Master Plan for construction on the undeveloped property East of campus. The proposal for renovation of the current ELP facility is also currently under review.

Next year, we intend to continue our work on these projects and hope to address the topic of elder care in addition to identifying other issues shaping individuals’ experiences in regards to work life family balance.

Scholarship Committee

Members: Emily Chasse (chair), Carolyn Fallahi, Ellen Retelle, Kris Larsen, Jacqueline Cobbina-Boivin

After reviewing all of the submissions, Alyssa Mazzarella, a senior majoring in Biomolecular Science, with a grade point average of 3.3, was selected for the Ruthe Boyea Scholarship. The $500 scholarships will be credited to her account in the Fall, 2012. Alyssa Mazzarella, was the perfect candidate for the Ruth Boyea Scholarship. She clearly sees the importance of women’s health and has a special interest in helping women maintain a healthy heart. She designed a “HEALTHY HEART PROGRAM” that addresses the importance of cholesterol, blood pressure, and developing a healthy mind and body. She wants to assist women in learning how to manage a healthy lifestyle.

Sexual Assault Protocol Subcommittee

Members: Joanne DiPlacido, Krystal Rich, Carolyn Fallahi, Jason Sikorski, Victoria Ginter, Sandra Matthews

This year the Sexual Assault Protocol Subcommittee has accomplished many things. In the beginning of the year, the subcommittee reviewed the changes that were made to the Student Code of Conduct from recommendations that were submitted during the prior year. The committee was satisfied with the changes made and felt that it was time to alter the role of the committee. Please see below for more information on the subcommittee’s accomplishments for the year, as well as the goals for the upcoming year.

Tasks:
Reviewed changes made to the Student Code of Conduct (all sub-committee members)

a. In the previous year, this sub-committee submitted suggestions to the student code of conduct around the sexual assault piece. Several of the committee’s suggestions were used in the revision of the student code of conduct. During the first three meetings of this fiscal year the committee members reviewed the revised Student Code of Conduct and came to the consensus that the revised Code of Conduct covered the majority of the revisions that were necessary and that the committee would revisit the document at a later date if any other necessary revisions were brought forward.

2. Drafted and put forth a Consensual Relationships Policy (Carolyn, Joanne, and Krystal)
   a. Krystal and Carolyn researched what policies other universities have in place around consensual relationships between faculty/staff and students. The policy was drafted by Krystal and Carolyn in the previous fiscal year (2010-2011) and was reviewed and revised by Carolyn, Joanne, and Krystal this year. The policy was then submitted to the administration (Anne Alling, Chief of Human Resources and Rosa Rodriguez, Chief Diversity Officer) for revisions. Joanne, Carolyn, and Krystal met with Rosa and Anne to go over the final revisions on the policy (3/9/2012). The policy has been approved and is currently up on CCSU’s website.

3. Put together a rough draft of a Stalking Policy (Krystal and Carolyn)
   a. Currently, CCSU does not have a separate policy to address the issue of stalking. Given the recent push in the legislation to revise the state stalking laws, several members of CCW felt that creating a policy for CCSU would be helpful. The committee has been using a template put out by the National Center for Victims of Crime, which was made for college campuses. A rough draft has been shown to the administration to see if the template is appropriate to use for CCSU.

4. Organization and participation in the ENOUGH a race to end violence on April 22nd (all members)
a. The ENOUGH a race to end violence was a fundraiser and awareness event around all types of violence. Funds raised were given to the Sexual Assault Crisis Service of New Britain to continue working with primary and secondary victims of sexual assault. The subcommittee assisted in promoting the event around the campus. Several members also participated in the event.

5. Emily Chasse organized a Library event for Sexual Assault Awareness month. Paula Broderick, Prevention and Education Coordinator for the Sexual Assault Crisis Services of YWCA New Britain and Liz Halla-Mattingly, adult advocate for SACS, presented information for students. She also coordinated a Resources display in the library for the month of April.

Goals (2012-2013): In the upcoming year, the committee will be working closely with the Best Practices Subcommittee from the Sexual Assault and Interpersonal Violence Resource Team to come up with campus wide trainings on interpersonal violence (sexual harassment, sexual assault, intimate partner violence). These trainings will include members from different departments on CCSU’s campuses to make sure each student and staff member receives the information about resources and how to best deal with a situation related to interpersonal violence. The subcommittee will work to find effective ways to bring more awareness to the topic of interpersonal violence.

Sexual orientation/Gender Identity Concerns Subcommittee Report

Members: Ellen Retelle (chair), Joanne DiPlacido, Krystal Rich, Meg Levvis, Kristine Larsen

- Planned a Gay/Straight Alliance Day for all Connecticut high school students, who are members of Gay Straight Alliances, and their high school advisors. The purpose of the visit is for GSA students to learn more about CCSU and learn about the Sexual Minority Archives in the library, meet with members of the PRIDE group, take a tour of the campus, visit classes, and have lunch. April 19, 2012. Unfortunately, the GSA day was cancelled due to lack of participants. However, Crystal Nieves (university assistant at the CCSU LGBT center) and I will follow up with GSA advisors to choose an alternate day. Hope to plan a day in fall 2012.
- Discussed research support for LGBT faculty with Rosa Rodriguez. Will meet with Carol Lovitt and Rod Waterman to discuss research support. Discussed creating a Rainbow Alumnae group with Crystal Nieves.
Mentoring

Members: Carolyn Fallahi (chair), Ellen Retelle, Susan Slaga, Myrna Garcia Bowen, Bobbie Koplowitz, Kathy Poirier, Carolyn Yousef

Based on personal experiences shared with the committee and the results of the equity 2 study, the committee felt that more mentoring and better quality mentoring seems to be done with men in comparison to women. It is important to have in place quality for women mentoring that is not only fact based, e.g. how to get promotion and tenure, but also supportive, e.g. how to handle the politics of academia, for women. After following up with HR to assess the materials available to new employees, we decided to create a website that will feature information for new employees. It will be based on frequently asked questions (FAQ). Members of the sub-committee interviewed different groups on campus and came up with brief descriptions of FAQs. They are now featured on the website with links to the actual department in the event that new employees want more information. We plan to add to the website as different information is gathered. Our plan is to present this at new employee orientation. The website address is: http://www.ccsu.edu/page.cfm?p=10909. We will continue to add sections to this website.

Men’s Initiative and Support of Women

Members: Jason Sikorski (chair), Bobbi Koplowowitz (chair), Carolyn Fallahi, Krystal Rich, Kim DeMichele, Sally Lesik, Jacqueline Cobbina-Boivin, Susan Gilmore

Over the course of the last academic year, our committee has accomplished a number of important goals. First, we have piloted our innovative psycho-educational program with 51 male student athletes at Central Connecticut State University. Initial data analyses and satisfaction data reports highlight the fact that the men enjoyed the presentation, benefited from the content discussed and plan to implement learned material to live happier and healthier lives. No participants reported feeling attacked or stereotyped in any way. Second, our group assisted in the 5K Enough Initiative to End Violence event. Many of the men who participated in our program attended the event and many of those who attended the event played in our bocce ball event meant to symbolize the importance of forethought and restraint that men should utilize in living healthier lives. Third, our research team has presented our findings through the Women’s Gender and Sexuality Studies group at CCSU, the June Baker Higgins conference and the group who meets to discuss men’s issues on campus with Dr. Laura Tordenti. In short, we are eagerly awaiting work on scheduling issues that, once negotiated, will allow our group to pilot our program in the dormitories and with additional male student athletes. CCW awarded $500 to Dr. Sikorski to help facilitate some of the evaluative work for his program.
Health Education for Women

Members: Krystal Rich, Eva Vrodjak, Meg Levvis
The Health Education for Women Sub-committee is new to CCW this year. The sub-committee was formed to help spread health education on different topics that specifically affect women. This year the committee did a lot of brainstorming to come up with the most effective methods to reach different women on Central’s Campus.

Activities:
- Breast Cancer Awareness Tabling in the Student Center, October 13th
- Women’s Health Walk, November, 22nd 12-1pm at Stanley Quarter Park
- Participated in the ENOUGH a race to end violence, April 22nd at CCSU

Goals for 2012-2013: The goal for next year is to do some type of program for several of the awareness months that address health concerns which primarily target women. For the month of October, the committee plans to bring in someone who specializes in Breast Cancer Awareness. Members also talked about the possibility of being part of a health fair in the up-coming semester.

Elections for the 2012-2013 Academic Year

Joanne DiPlacido will be stepping down as co-chair and Ellen Retelle will be taking her place.

Respectfully Submitted,

Carolyn R. Fallahi, Co-Chair of CCW
Joanne DiPlacido, Co-Chair of CCW

   - Vote was unanimous to accept
3. Budget Report
   - Copy center budget needs to be included. $500 originally and now we are down to $438.95. CCW 001 account has $909.51. CCW 030 account has $3287.55.
4. Old Business/New Business
   - The primary foci of the December meeting were CCW’s mission and goals and the subcommittee’s goals; also, hiring an assistant in the RBWC was discussed due to the email exchange during the weeks prior to the December meeting. Consequently, the committee members were asked to review the subcommittee reports.
   - Assistant in the RBWC: R. Rodriguez is responsible for hiring the assistant in the RBWC. Rosa reported she has been discussing the situation and working with Jacqueline Cobbina-Boivin for the past 2 years. Asked Jacqueline to start counting how many students serving. At this time, have not received numbers. Then will be able to tell how many students serving and types of services they are receiving.
   - Rosa’s goal is to hire someone to focus on sexual assault victims. However, this position is part time and the pay is low; consequently, it has been difficult to hire for the position. Also, several people had started, but did not continue. CCSU needs someone who has some experience providing services to victims. R. Rodriguez shared that 20% of her budget is allocated to diversity grants; 20% goes to sexual assault training. Rosa has contacted the office of victim services has spoken with Michelle Cruz to help recruit. Members can support Rosa by suggesting individuals who may be interested in the job. Rosa and Jacqueline will further discuss the assistant’s position.
Also, Jacqueline is a 10 month position. If someone seeking services, individuals need to contact Rosa’s office.

- RBWC. Jacqueline stated that the RBWC is a viable part of this campus. She expressed concern that having only students staff the RBWC because they don’t have knowledge and experience it limits the services the RBWC provides. Rosa stated that she trained students in her office so that they were ready to apply for positions in other organizations and that her students stayed for four years. Jacqueline also trains her students.

- R. Rodriguez reported that Nick D’Agostina was hired in the Office for Diversity and Equity to assist her. He will begin in late December. He has extensive experience with affirmative action, LGBT concerns, and has a male perspective. Additionally, N. D’Agostina may take a leadership role with the bullying issues. The Office of Diversity and Equity will partner with HR on the bullying issue.

- Over 100 people there. 150 there. Were expecting 25. Spent a lot of money for disability awareness month. Re-evaluate how we are doing those programs. Fiona wants to know more about what programs and how are they linked?

- Emails: L. Tordenti expressed concern about the tone of the emails exchanged prior to the December meeting.

- Budget Reduction-CCSU’s budget will be cut 5% or 10% in the spring term. Consequently, every office will be asked to provide the same level of services with less money. There is overlap among various social justice groups on campus. With this in mind, the CCW will need to work with other university and community groups in supporting the CCW’s mission and goals. In the spring term, one of our goals should be to identify how we can share resources, co-sponsor activities, work collaboratively, and support other university committee’s that overlap with our work. It was suggested that the RBWC hold events and activities that serve large number of individuals and that eliminate activities and events that serve few individuals. There were several concerns about which activities and events would be eliminated. J. Cobbina-Boivin responded that many events have large numbers of people. For example, over 100 people attended a presentation on force marriages.

- C. Fallahi shared that CCW submits a yearly report to President Miller; he responds to each item. The report and the response are posted on the CCW website. Not all committee members were aware of the report and President Miller’s response. Fiona Pearson suggested that the report is shared with the CCW. Other members agreed.

- Next Steps for CCW: The mission statement and bylaws were distributed. Committee members.     1. Put back into the sexual misconduct protocol? Carolyn will follow up with Rosa about this and report back to the committee.

3. How to help cards will be distributed to CCW.

4. Programming or panel during sexual assault month in April. We could get people from SACHS to come and speak. We were talking about having survivors and people who worked in the field.

6. Next October, Domestic Violence Month. We want to plan something. Again, we would need to discuss this with Jacqueline in order to coordinate with the WC. Carolyn will send an e-mail. They did the Red Flag campaign (small red flags that people write …. Inspiring messages, parts of stories, put around student center). We were wondering what else has been done?

k. Women’s Center Report (Jacqueline Cobbina-Boivin)
   - Committee discussed staffing at the Women’s Center: 4 full time positions
   - Advocacy services to working closely with Women Center coordinator
   - Need a part-time victims advocate, would like to refill the position. Approx. 19 hours per week
   - This fall term, 70% of training sessions provided to residence halls were at no cost. Want to continue that model.
   - The center would like to conduct an intake process: how many students are seeking services and what services they are receiving.
   - There is a model used across the country, separate office to provided victims with interpersonal violence issues.
   - Because of budget constraints, the center is trying to provide more services with less help. Considering cutting down on activities.
   - The center is hopeful for change in the future. They are committed to providing proper services.
   - The CCW will help recruit the right individuals for positions at the center. Someone to connect to students. To move the center forward it needs a person there to serve as an advocate. Someone who knows how to discuss women’s issues across the board.
   - Committee suggested a UA or GA position for the center for help and support.
   - CCW and Women’s center can collaborate to create UA or GA position
   - The center wants to have a programing plan. It’s a must because of cost and notifying students of programing. Reevaluate how we are program: outcomes, attendance, our expectations, etc.
   - Committee agreed to redefine the committee’s focus. Need specific goals.
   - Next steps at next meeting!
