The Polish Studies Program at Central Connecticut State University

The Polish Studies Program at Central Connecticut State University is celebrating its Fiftieth Anniversary. The program owes its existence to the patriotism and generosity of the Polish population of Connecticut. Once they had accumulated considerable funds, the state government contributed an equal amount. The Program’s longevity, coupled with its dynamic and imaginative development has made it into the most significant University undertaking of its type in all of North America. Scholars throughout Europe and North America know of its existence and regard it with respect and admiration.

The significance of the Polish Studies Program is based upon two pillars: a dynamic and imaginative repertoire of activities, and essential support for students and community members drawn to Polish history, culture, and language. Consequentially, the Program has presented scores of concerts, plays, art exhibits, conferences, symposia, lectures by celebrated scholars from many countries, discussion by prominent journalists, diplomats, poets, films, a multi-part opera program, and, significantly, presentations by university students holding scholarships. These are complemented by courses in Polish History, including those at the graduate level, a variety of language courses and several scholarship programs.

The Program is supported by the Polish Heritage Collection which includes over 35,000 catalogued books and periodicals as well as the Connecticut Polish American Archive which is a repository of materials documenting the establishment of Polish communities, parishes, societies and organizations in Connecticut and across the United States.

From its inception, the University made it clear that the director of the Program would be encouraged and supported by funds, and various forms of aid. The CCSU President stated unequivocally, that the Director of the program had the central obligation of “putting CCSU on the map” regarding Polish Studies. As a result, the Program’s two directors, S. A. Blejwas (1974-2001), and M. B. B. Biskupski, thereafter, have been significantly aided in research and publication resulting in more than a score of books and well over a hundred essays and shorter pieces. CCSU’s Polish Studies accomplishments are prominently advertised at academic meetings throughout Europe and North America as a result of the support the University provides.

In fine, among CCSU’s historic academic accomplishments, the Polish Studies Program is indeed prominent.

MIGRATIONS, BORDER REGIMES, AND THE CREATION OF MODERN POLAND

Friday, June 9 | 9:30 AM
CCSU Student Center, Bellin Gallery A

SPEAKER: KEELY STAUTER-HALSTED

Keely Stauter-Halsted is Professor of History and Hejna Family Chair in the History of Poland at the University of Illinois in Chicago, where she co-directs programming in Polish Studies. Her teaching and research examine issues of ethnicity, gender, and class in East Central Europe. Stauter-Halsted has published on topics including peasant nationalism, Polish-Jewish relations, prostitution, human trafficking, and global migration. Her first monograph, The Nation in the Village: The Genesis of Peasant National Identity in Austrian Poland (Cornell University Press, 2001), won the Orbis Prize in Polish history. Her second book, The Devil’s Chain: Prostitution and Social Control in Partitioned Poland (Cornell University Press, 2015), received the American Historical Association Joan Kelly Prize, the PIASA Oskar Halecki Award, and the Association for Women in Slavic History Heldt Prize, among others. Stauter-Halsted’s current project investigates refugees and forced migration in the Polish Second Republic immediately following World War I. She is spending academic year 2022-23 in Warsaw conducting research on a Fulbright fellowship.

The Polish Review

Launched in 1956, The Polish Review has established itself as one of the most distinguished journals in the various fields of Polish studies, a publication that encourages lively scholarly exchange and cutting-edge innovation. The Review authors have included Stanisław Barańczak, Rachel Feldhay Brenner, Zbigniew Brzeziński, Anna Cienciala, Anna Frajlich, Irena Grudzińska-Gross, Roman Koropeckyj, Czesław Miłosz, and Antony Polonsky, among others.

The Review is a peer-reviewed multidisciplinary journal, published by the Polish Institute of Arts and Sciences of America in New York in cooperation with the Polska Akademia Umiejętności in Kraków and the University of Illinois Press in Urbana-Champaign. It aims to disseminate new scholarly research in Polish studies broadly understood. To accomplish this goal, the Review publishes original research articles, review essays, book reviews, and annotated translations of documents and literary works.

If you are interested in submitting an article to The Polish Review, we ask that you first read our submission guidelines at:

www.press.uillinois.edu/journals/?id=pr

HOW TO SUBMIT ARTICLES: Manuscripts should be submitted in Microsoft Word via e-mail attachment to the Editor, Halina Filipowicz, at hfilipow@wisc.edu. The length of each submission should be 6,000 to 10,000 words plus notes, tables, etc. Each manuscript should conform to TPR Stylesheet and include an abstract of approximately 250 words. Manuscripts are evaluated in a double-blind peer-review process on the basis of their originality, the scope of research, and the clarity of the thesis, presentation, and conclusions. The current acceptance rate for article submissions is 25%.

For more information about The Polish Review, the latest issues, and a list of most read articles (some of them available free of charge), please visit:
